CHILD'S FRENCH DRESS.

In This Garment White India Silk Is Tastefully Decorated

With Lace. With Lace.

CHILD'S FRENCH DRINS, NO, 8405—
Some mothers dress their little children in white until they are about 6 years old. When the weather becomes too cold for lawn, swiss and dimity frocks, soft silles, albatross, popiln and cashmers are used. The fabrics are very beautiful in white and cream shades, and may be trimmed with lace, ribboh or hand embroidery.

In the dainty French dress illustrated white India silk is tastefully decorated with point de Paris lace and insertion.

1, 2, 4 and 6 years.

The front and back are tucked in four clusters of three tucks each, and arranged at the lower edge of the round yoke, which is of lace. The tucks are stitched down to form a long-walsted, tight-fitting body effect. The stitching ceases several inches from the bottom, and the fullness flares stylishly in a short Edirt.

Two rows of insertion are applied around the skirt at the head of the founce. The dress closes in the back with pearl buttons. A lace collar completes the neck.

The bertha is applied at the edge of the yoke and extends out over the shoulders in a becoming manner.

The sleeves are tucked to correspond with the body. A narrow wristband of lace completes the small puff at the hand.

To make the dress for a child 2 years old will require three and a half yards of thirty-six-inch material. The pattern, No. 8466, is cut in sizes for children 1, 2, 4 and 6 years. 1. 2. 4 and 6 years.

Knox Circuit Court, after deliberating half in hour to-day, returned a verdlet in favor rden for breach of promise in the sum of SUMMARY OF ST. LOUIS MARKETS.

Wheat declined rapidly in consequence of a falling off in the foreign demand, selling in other demestic markets, realizing by nervous pikers, heavy primary receipts and lack other consiste markers, realizing by hervous paces, early primary received of buying support. Trading was brisk throughout the gession, though confined principally to the speculating element. Few of the export dealers showed their hands in the day's transactions.
